While Biden is promising that fracking will not be banned under the Harris, I mean Biden administration, the Democrats are working overtime to ensure the Green party is kept off the ballot in multiple states. They have in the past accused Jill Stein of being a Russian asset, along with Tulsi and Bernie. However, their reasoning for denying choice to voters, is that it will stall ballot delivery, in a time when the election is only a few weeks away and the post office is in crisis. Oh, the irony! It turns out, that the lawsuit the Democrats have filed has been caught up in the Pennsylvania courts (where frankly they could use some environmental regulation) and delayed the sending of ballots. This is because the courts have to settle the lawsuit and until that happens, ballots cannot be printed, much less sent out. They don’t call themselves Democrats for nothing? I guess they do.
